March 2016

Registered Charity No. 1099411
www.greatglenu3a.co.uk

A very warm welcome to our new members: Susan Poole, Raymond Stokes, and David and Sue Tilley

Chairman's Chat

I was interested to read the article in the February edition of Third Age Matters entitled "Have you ever thought like this?" The article challenges U3A local Committees to reflect upon whether they are doing as much as they should to meet the needs of disabled members. We have just discussed this in our own Committee. At our monthly meetings we ask all our speakers to use the microphone to help those with hearing difficulties. We also produce a large print version of the U3A Great Glen monthly newsletter. My question now to all disabled members is this: are you prevented from attending and enjoying meetings and groups and taking part by reason of a disability? Please contact me directly if so, and let me have any suggestions you may have about how we might make things better.

Speaking of Third Age Matters, I have to advise all members that you should NOT inform the magazine of changes of address. The correct action is to let Liz Adams, our Membership Officer, know. Liz will then ensure you continue to receive your copy.

A reminder to Group Leaders that the Group Leaders' Meeting takes place at 12.30 p.m. on Friday 22 April in the Methodist Hall. Invitations were sent out several weeks ago. I have received a fair number of replies, but I need to have a definite response from the remaining Group Leaders please as soon as possible.

As previously announced our AGM will take place on Tuesday 10 May – coffee at 10.00 a.m. in readiness for a prompt start 10.30. Business will be followed by a showing by Toni Smith of a selection of films. Please make sure you have the date in your diaries.

Sadistic Safari – Michael Leonard

February Monthly Meeting

Michael and Rosemary went on safari to South Africa which turned out to be not quite what they had expected. In 1994 the blacks took over from the whites so their first hotel was north of Johannesburg as visiting the city required a guide and armed guards. The party included an American lady whom Michael described as having 'verbal diarrhoea' who spent the whole safari asking where the elephants were. Their driver was called Robert, a very tall man and about 30 stone. Because it was raining very hard and very warm outside the windows steamed up, so Nancy, the American lady with a very loud voice, wanted to know where the air conditioning was! At one stage of the journey Robert asked the English to put their hands up and then said they should be ashamed of themselves. They were passing by a site where during the Boer war 26,000 white women and children and 13,000 blacks were killed. They heard that cyclone Holland was passing over them so they were unable to stop at any tourist sites. Unable to see anything through the steamed up windows, they approached the Drakensburg mountains, where the battle of Blood River took place, and then Spion Cop, where the English received a thrashing.

Arriving at the Sabi River hotel they were attacked by huge insects whilst going to their outside bedroom. Fortunately there were none inside the room. The next day they travelled to the Kruger National Park in a temperature of 30°. They sat in a fenced in gated area where they bought sandwiches and crisps from the cafeteria for lunch. Whilst eating their lunch lots of monkeys came down from the trees and stole their food. Going back to the cafeteria to replenish their lunch they were met by the grins on the faces of the staff. The only 'big game' they saw that day were a Gecko lizard and a Monitor lizard 6ft. long.

At the next hotel they were met by ladies who took their very heavy suitcases and carried them on their heads to the bedrooms. In the twin rooms were thousands of insects, especially at one end near the toilet. That was the first night in years that Rosemary managed not to need the loo! After the evening meal it was lights out at 9 o'clock and everywhere was jet black. Unable to find the way to their room they inadvertently wandered into the jungle. Fortunately they were directed back by a ranger. Good news, as leopards were on the camp.

The next day they went on safari with guides in jeeps to find animals. They saw tortoises, a scaly anteater, centipedes and millepedes. The hotel that night had no bugs but Michael noticed a large lizard above Rosemary's bed. He got her hair lacquer and sprayed it as it scampered away, hopefully stiff, into the eaves. He hoped it would not fall down in the night! The silver service evening meal included crocodile, pheasant, duck, guinea fowl, wild boar, impala and giraffe. Unfortunately the dessert table was swarming with ants. The manager announced that a herd of elephants was walking by, trunks and tails linked. Nancy was delighted to see her favourite animals.

The next day they were in Swaziland where the people were very poor and lived in ramshackle huts. Children were dressed in leaves and were poked to dance for money. 400,000 people suffered from Aids whilst the king, with his 200 wives, lived in splendour.

The party returned to South Africa to be told that their hotel for the night had burnt down. Instead they were taken to accommodation at the Pinder game reserve where there were wild animals and poisonous snakes. They went on a night safari where they saw a rabbit and the giant sticky web of the golden orb spider. After a champagne breakfast they set off back through the jungle where they saw a rhino who had just given birth. People in the jeep who did not duck down quickly enough were covered in the sticky web of the golden orb spider.

The next stop was Zululand in 40° heat. The people were very welcoming and offered a meal. Michael said the only thing he recognized was the table!

On to Durban ready to fly home. In the harbour they saw where Docksider Doris offered her services and advertised her day-time and night-time charges.

As Michael said, the rain, bugs, awful accommodation and lack of animals were not what they expected.

Learn Something New

All these are single two-hour sessions unless otherwise stated.

How to Start your Family Tree Eric Orbell Wednesday 30 March 10:00 Methodist Hall

This session will give members an opportunity to learn how to make a start in researching and creating their own family tree. Once you have got going, you might wish to join the regular Family History group. Eric will explain the basics and what you can expect to achieve. To continue with your own research you will need to have access to a computer at home or a library but you will not need it at this session.

New Age Kurling - Come and have a go Stewart Newman Friday 13th May Sports Centre

New age Kurling is a recently invented sport based on ice-curling but played on a normal flat indoor surface using rubber curling stones which have castors.

It can be played by almost anyone and provides opportunity for gentle exercise as well as plenty of fun.

If you are on the internet you can see a youtube demo at

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=0kimoxxRppk>

We are grateful to Stewart for providing equipment from Hinckley U3A for this session.

To join these sessions sign up at the March monthly meeting, or contact me by phone or email.

We are also looking at repeating the Dementia Friends session which was held at the beginning of February. No date has been arranged yet.

The session What to do with your IPAD run by Jeanette Small went very well and we shall arrange a follow-up session, probably focussing on two or three specific topics.

So keep your eyes peeled for further announcements about these and other new sessions.

English Country Dancing

The Group continues to meet weekly on Tuesday afternoons 2.00 to 4.00 p.m. in the Sports Hall, and is always pleased to welcome new members. No previous experience is needed as all the dances are explained and walked through before setting them to music. You do not need to come with a partner; singles of both sexes are welcomed. Just wear lightweight shoes and comfortable clothing suitable for gentle dancing, and be prepared to laugh a lot!

The dances we do were written from 1650 to 2015, and span English Country, English Court (Playford), American Squares and Contra styles of dances.

On 13th March some of us will be dressing in our "Miss Elizabeth Bennett and Mr Darcy" finery in order to attend a Playford costume ball (Georgian/Regency period) in the Higham-Ferrers Bede House, Northamptonshire - an appropriate setting for dances from the 17th century!

Come and join us on Tuesdays for an afternoon of fun and gentle exercise in good company!
